60¢ GIVES $1,000,000 PEACE CAUSE

One million dollars to promote the cause of universal peace has been set up by Edwin Gibb, the Boston publisher.

For the remaining years of his life Gibb is to contribute $4000 annually to the peace cause. Upon his death the million dollars will become available. It was announced by Mr. Gibb today.

The million-dollar fund will probably be swelled before long. For business men are working with Mr. Gibb on the cause.

"Andrew Carnegie," he said today, "is interested in my plans, and will undoubtedly contribute."

"When we have won over our internal enemies, we shall have one international army to preserve the peace of the world. And as the nations gain confidence, the international army of the Independent will gradually be decreased until the nations are about enough to do police duty."

"The international army will not interfere in revolutions. The domestic police will be left to the nations themselves."

For years Mr. Tilton has been contributing to the peace cause on a grand scale. Edwin D. Mead, the noted peace advocate, has worked out the formation of peace committees in the United States to be in part of the work has been assigned by Mr. Elihu Root.
